Good Friday Prayer Service

Meditation Upon Entering the Historic Sanctuary

Peace be to all who visit this sacred house of God sanctified by years of prayer. Pause awhile...allow the past to speak words of comfort to your soul, then add your prayer to ours before you go forth from the calm of this shelter into the busy world.

Organ Prelude

Call to Worship

One: This is Good Friday. This is real. Too real.

Many: Things don't get heavier than this.

One: While it would be rather easy to avoid it,

Many: We are faithful to meet the darkness, fear and dread.
Yet we don't want to see the deceit, desertion, denial.

One: This is all part of being human.

Many: God does not leave us to this work alone.

One: But partners with us so that we may have light and love—even now.

Many: We enter into this time of Word and worry and wonder.
We also embrace the mystery and grace of this day.

One: God brings us love all the way. Be sure of this!

All: Let us worship our God together—Creator, Christ and Spirit.

Opening Prayer

Holy One, we're not sure we want to be here. There are so many other things we could be doing...things that could bring us joy, set us free, help us to feel truly alive. And yet we are sure that we need to be here. You have things to say to us, things to share with us, things to show us. Help us to open all of our senses to experience you now. Amen.

Opening Hymn #98—O Sacred Head, Now Wounded

O sacred head, now wounded,
With grief and shame weighed down;
Now scornfully surrounded with thorns, Thine only crown;
O sacred head, what glory, what bliss till now was Thine!
Yet, though despised and gory, I joy to call Thee mine.

What Thou, my Lord, hast suffered was all for sinners' gain;
Mine, mine was the transgression, But Thine the deadly pain.
Lo, here I fall, my Savior! 'Tis I deserve Thy place;
Look on me with Thy favor, vouch safe to me Thy grace.

What language shall I borrow to thank Thee, dearest friend,
For this Thy dying sorrow, thy pity without end?
O make me Thine forever; and should I fainting be,
Lord, let me never, never out live my love to Thee.

Hebrew Scripture Lesson Isaiah 25:6-9

On this mountain the LORD of hosts will make for all peoples a feast of rich food, a feast of well-aged wines, of rich food filled with marrow, of well-aged wines strained clear. And he will destroy on this mountain the shroud that is cast over all peoples, the sheet that is spread over all nations; he will swallow up death forever. Then the Lord GOD will wipe away the tears from all faces, and the disgrace of his people he will take away from all the earth, for the LORD has spoken. It will be said on that day, Lo, this is our God; we have waited for him, so that he might save us. This is the LORD for whom we have waited; let us be glad and rejoice in his salvation.

Psalter Lesson Psalm 23 (King James Version)

The Lord is my shepherd, I shall not want; he makes me lie down in green pastures. He leads me beside still waters; he restores my soul. He leads me in paths of righteousness for his name's sake. Even though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death, I fear no evil; for thou art with me; thy rod and thy staff, they comfort me. Thou preparest a table before me in the presence of my enemies; thou anointest my head with oil, my cup runneth over. Surely goodness and mercy shall follow me all the days of my life; and I shall dwell in the house of the Lord forever.

New Testament Lesson Romans 8:35, 37-39

Who will separate us from the love of Christ? Will hardship, or distress, or persecution, or famine, or nakedness, or peril, or sword? No, in all these things we are more than conquerors through him who loved us. For I am convinced that neither death, nor life, nor angels, nor rulers, nor things present, nor things to come, nor powers, nor height, nor depth, nor anything else in all creation, will be able to separate us from the love of God in Christ Jesus our Lord.

Reflections

In the mighty name of God, In the saving name of Jesus,
In the strong name of the Spirit, We cry, we watch, we wait
We look, we long for you. ~Celtic Prayer

In the pain, misfortune, oppression and death of the people,
God is silent.

God is silent on the cross, in the crucified.

And this silence is God's word, God's cry.

In solidarity, God speaks the language of love. ~Jon Sobrino, El Salvador

The cross is the way of the lost

The cross is the staff of the lame

The cross is the strength of the weak

The cross is the hope of the hopeless

The cross is the freedom of the slave

The cross is the water of the seeds

The cross is the source for folk seeking water

The cross is the cloth of the naked ~10th Century African Hymn

The cross we bear precedes the crown we wear.

To be a Christian one must take up the cross,

with all its difficulties and agonizing and tension-packed content and carry it until that very cross leaves its marks upon us and redeems us to that more excellent way which comes only through suffering. ~Martin Luther King, Jr.

O Christ, thou didst sleep a life-giving sleep in the grave, and didst awaken humankind from the heavy sleep of sin.

~Byzantine Liturgy

Christ our Lord, like the seed buried in the ground, you brought forth for us the harvest of grace. Christ the Good Shepherd, in death you lay hidden from the world. ~Antiphons: Morning Prayer

Someone I loved once gave me a box full of darkness. It took me years to understand that this too, was a gift. ~Mary Oliver

Epistle Lesson Romans 8:26-27

Likewise the Spirit helps us in our weakness; for we do not know how to pray as we ought, but that very Spirit intercedes with sighs too deep for words. And God who searches the heart, knows what is in the mind of the Spirit, because the Spirit intercedes for the saints according to the will of God.

Gospel Lesson

The Seven Last Words of Jesus from the Cross

Forgive them, for they know not what they do (Luke 23:34)

Truly, I say to you, today you will be with me in paradise (Luke 23:43)

Woman, behold your son: behold your mother (John 19:26-27)

My God, My God, why have you forsaken me? (Matt. 27:46; Psalm 22)

I thirst (John 19:28)

It is finished (John 19:30)

Into your hands I commit my spirit (Luke 23:46)

Pastoral Prayer & Prayers of the People

Lord's Prayer

Our [Creator/Mother/Father/Holy One] who art in Heaven, hallowed be thy name. Thy kingdom come, thy will be done on Earth as it is in Heaven. Give us this day our daily bread; and forgive us our debts as we forgive our debtors; and lead us not into temptation but deliver us from evil. For thine is the Kingdom and the power and the glory forever. Amen.

Hymn #92—Beneath the Cross of Jesus

Beneath the cross of Jesus, I fain would take my stand, the shadow of a mighty rock within a weary land;
A home within the wilderness, a rest upon the way,
From the burning of the noontide heat,
And the burden of the day.

Upon that cross of Jesus mine eye at times can see
The very dying form of One who suffered there for me;
And from my stricken heart with tears, Two wonders I confess:
The wonders of redeeming love and my unworthiness.

I take, O cross, thy shadow for my abiding place;
I ask no other sunshine than the sunshine of his face;
Content to let the world go by, to know no gain nor loss,
My sinful self my only shame, my glory all the cross.

Reflection The Way of Pain—Wendell Berry

For parents, the only way is hard. We who give life give pain. There is no help.
Yet we who give pain give love; by pain we learn the extremity of love.

I read of Abraham's sacrifice
the Voice required of him, so that he led to the altar and the knife his only son.
The beloved life was spared that time, but not the pain.
It was the pain that was required.

I read of Christ crucified,
the only begotten Son sacrificed to flesh and time
and all our woe.

He died and rose, but who does not tremble for his pain, his loneliness, and the darkness of the sixth hour?
Unless we grieve like Mary at His grave, giving Him up as lost, no Easter morning comes.

And then I slept, and dreamed the life of my only son was required of me, and I must bring him to the edge of pain, not knowing why.
I woke, and yet that pain was true. It brought his life to the full in me. I bore him suffering, with love like the sun, too bright, unsparing, whole.

PG-13 Reflection Goddamn Evil—David Henson

Goddamn abuse
Goddamn injustice, slavery and rape.
Goddamn racism
Goddamn war
Goddamn that strange fruit of bigotry and hate
Goddamn suffering
Goddamn hunger
Goddamn indifference, apathy and waste
Goddamn noose
Goddamn death
Goddamn despair, depression, the wait
Goddamn Good Friday
And a Goddamn cross
Goddamned it all,
Goddamned it too late
Yet we live like it's Easter
Like God has been raised
We live like it's light,
In spite of the dark.
We live like there's joy
With spite in our hearts
For all that remain of our Goddamned days
These Goddamned
Good Fridays.

Reflection Little Crucifixions—Bruce Epperly

On Good Friday, we can ponder all the little crucifixions going on right now in our world, often unnoticed, but very real – death dealing actions that lead to melting polar icecaps, global climate change and the potential cataclysm that awaits our children and children’s children, complacency at mass starvation and genocide, apathy at sex trafficking and human slavery, our addiction to oil and gun ownership, and the list goes on, even before we explore our own personal ambiguities and culpability in the subtle violence of everyday life.

Silence

Reflection Good Friday’s Cross—Unknown

Good Friday’s cross stood on the altar skeleton shrouded in black, anonymous as anaesthetized death—as if we could not face dying, pain, blood, but wished their annihilation behind unseeing veil and choir’s harmonizing of the torn body and spilt blood of the One whose life is sign and symbol of all the calculated obscenities people endure in the name of God or of anyone else for that matter.

Organ Reflection Partita

Reflection Good Friday—Christina Rossetti

Am I a stone, and not a sheep,
That I can stand, O Christ, beneath Thy cross,
To number drop by drop Thy blood’s slow loss,
And yet not weep?

Not so those women loved
Who with exceeding grief lamented Thee;
Not so fallen Peter weeping bitterly;
Not so the thief was moved;

Not so the Sun and Moon
Which hid their faces in a starless sky,
A horror of great darkness at broad noon –
I, only I.
Yet give not o’er,
But seek Thy sheep, true Shepherd of the flock;
Greater than Moses, turn and look once more
And smite a rock.

Silence

Reflection Crosses—Unknown

Almost all the crosses I have ever seen seem much the same despite their differing size, shape, texture—some are empty, others bear, cosmetic Christs but few, if any, present the crosses of our world crosses of plants and animals, under threat of extinction, crosses of people suffering unjust imprisonment, starvation, torture, personal and institutional violence. Sometimes I wish I could place real bodies upon those crosses—bodies of dead whales, dead native birds and trees, bodies of dead, dying, emaciated and mutilated people; for at the intersection of the horizontal and vertical elements of life there is always a body and in the Body of Christ I see all the bodies of this world.

Silence

Reflection Strong Love by George Stuart

Look at Jesus; hear the story; Probe the purpose of his life;
See the struggle and the glory, All the conflict, all the strife.
Was this man so meek and gentle; One who wanted peace and calm?
Was his talk of love so central? Was he one who did no harm?
Jesus often rescued others; Stood close by those pushed aside;
Called the outcasts sisters, brothers; Cared for those who had no guide.
But he did not bow to power; Nor accept the “status quo.”
Justice needed strength to flower; By his love he helped it grow.
Enemies who had no honor, Those with status, those with rank,
Bought him for some dirty silver; Full of woe, the cup he drank.
When accused he gave no answer, Did not flee the angry throng;
Looking at the Roman soldier Asked forgiveness for his wrong.
Have we seen such love in action? Have we seen such love so strong?
Love that would not bow or soften When the use of power was wrong.
Yet this love is pure and gentle For the weak and for the lost.
Love which God alone can kindle Given free but at great cost.

Silence

Some Questions to Ponder

A great number of people keep silent most of today. What role does silence play in your life and in the life of your spirit?

Judas betrayed Jesus for thirty pieces of silver. When has money been a complicated arena for you and how might your relationship with money changed over time?

Peter, frightened by the forces aligned against Jesus, denied him three times. When have you denied God? Where do you find courage not to?

There is so much judgment in this story. There is so much judgment in the world today. Whom do you judge? How and why? Where do you feel judged? What can you do about it?

It is said that the Spirit helps us in our weakness and when we are unsure of our prayers, the Spirit intercedes with sighs too deep for words. Try it—sigh deeply. Sigh again. Can you feel the Spirit? Sigh again.

Picture the scene of the crucifixion. Where are you standing in that scene? What are you doing? What is your relationship with Jesus at this moment? When have you come away from suffering and pain? How?

In what ways is Jesus being crucified in the world still today? In what ways might you be participating in that crucifixion? How can you resist?

What do you think of these two statements? Jesus didn't die to convince God to love you. Jesus died to convince you that God already loves you.

The cross has become a symbol of freedom and God's grace and love. Who needs to experience freedom today? What role can you play in helping them find it? Make a plan. Pray for those seeking freedom and those withholding it from them.

The cross, originally an instrument of torture and execution, has also become a symbol of victory and power. What is the meaning of the cross in your life? Are you a person of the cross? How so?

They put an inscription above Jesus' head on the cross—"King of the Jews." What terms do you use to talk about Jesus and his role in the Bible, in community and in your own life today?

What will you do the rest of this Good Friday and Holy Saturday? What role has waiting had in your life? What about grief? Reunion?

A Version of the Lord's Prayer

Eternal Spirit: Earth-maker, Pain-bearer, Life-giver, Source of all that is and all that shall be, Father and Mother of us all, creation resonates with celebration of your nameless name.

Let justice and mercy flood the earth; let all creation harmonize in your imagination; let us recognize that every thought and thing belongs to you.

With the bread we need for today, feed us; in the hurts we absorb from each other and those we inflict on others, forgive us; in times of test and temptation, stand with us; from the grip of all that is evil, free us. For you alone are creating our universe, now and forever. Amen.

Hymn Were You There?

Were you there when they crucified my Lord?

Were you there when they crucified my Lord?

O-O-O-O, sometimes it causes me to tremble, tremble, tremble

Were you there when they crucified my Lord?

Were you there when they nailed Him to the cross?...

Were you there when they laid Him in the tomb?...

Departure in Silence and Peace

Peace does not always mean to be in a place where there is no noise, trouble or hard work. Sometimes it means to be in the midst of those things and still be calm in your heart. ~unknown

Return tonight across the street in the new sanctuary at 7:00pm for a Good Friday worship experience different from this one. Blessings to you as we wait, watch and wonder alone and together.
